Making the grade: Assisted living facilities

Worksheet

Assisted living facilities are designed for individuals who need help with some activities of daily living such as bathing, dressing, cooking or taking medications.

They are not designed to provide 24-hour medical or skilled care. Medicare does not cover assisted living expenses; in some cases, Medicaid may provide for limited services. Some long-term care insurances will cover some of the costs, but this varies by policy. As each state has its own licensing requirements for assisted living, it is important to check to see what services can be provided. Before choosing an assisted living facility, consider the following.

Location
	Yes No
Is the community convenient to family?
Is the community convenient to friends?
Is the community convenient to shopping?
Is the community convenient to medical care (doctors, specialists, hospitals, specialized rehabilitation facility(ies))?
Community features
Does it feel welcoming?
Is there visitor parking?
Is there storage?
May residents bring personal items from home?
Is there a secured outside area for the residents to walk in?
Community services
What types of services are available?
_____
_____
What are the different dining options available and can they provide for special dietary needs?
