WEBB INVESTMENTS SERVES UP A REFRESHING WORKSHOP FOR AREA WOMEN.

Asheville, NC: Webb Investment Services will hold a noontime luncheon workshop entitled “Lemonade from Lemons” on Saturday, April 1, at Capitol Center, 82 Patton Avenue. The goal of the workshop is to show women how they can take control of their financial future in the midst of a sour economy by combining timely advice and sound long-term investment strategies.

“In this unstable and volatile economy, it’s sometimes easier to see the challenges than the opportunities,” say Laura Webb, President and Founder of Webb Investment Services. “My goal is to impress upon the women of Western North Carolina that they don’t have to give up their dreams and aspirations just because times are difficult. In fact, now is the best time to put into place a financial plan that will help them achieve their aspirations and create the foundation for long-term independence and security.”

Since 1995, Laura Webb has provided her clients with solution-oriented investment advice and financial planning. Webb Investments offers the kind of thoughtful, personalized service the people of Western North Carolina have come to expect from the Webb name. “Lemonade from Lemons” marks one of a series of special events sponsored by Webb Investments under the aegis of their Aya program, which is geared toward helping women invest in their lives and in their futures.

This event also marks Webb Investments recent relocation to Capital Center. This award-winning renovation of the former First Union building in downtown Asheville has been developed by Urban Capital LLC, of which Laura Webb is partner, and offers elegant, state-of-the-art office condominiums overlooking historic downtown Asheville.
