Dear Friends,

It's that time of year again. Where we stop and think to ourselves, "What are the plans for Thanksgiving this year"? Wherever it may be, remember, no two tables are the same. Maybe yours is filled with family, and friends who traditionally are all together, maybe it's at a food kitchen supporting the folks in need who don't have a table to go to, or perhaps you and your loved ones are awaiting new life to bless you for traditions to come.

Whatever your table may be, remember it is yours for the making. To share stories, to spread happiness, and to simply, pause, and say thank you.

It isn't often we break out of our routines, and take the time to make room for gatherings. When we do take space to create just that, of togetherness, it is then that we find really what we are all looking for. Connection, love, recognition, and embracing that we are exactly where we should be- thankfully, together.

Maybe your table isn't perfect, not many are, however, maybe it is perfectly yours.

From all of us at The Mendall Financial Group, we wish you and your family a Happy Thanksgiving!
