

Cowboy Quotes

Cowboy sayings collected by "Marshal" Jim

A stranger's business ain't yours.

Old cowboys never die, they just smell that way.

It's the work, not the clock, that tells you when it's quitting time.

You can't weigh the facts if you've got the scales loaded down with your opinions.

Don't make a long story short just so you can tell another one.

If you're ridin' a high horse, there ain't no way to get down off it gracefully.

Advice is like a pot of chili: you should try a little of it yourself before you give anybody else a taste.

If the job you did speaks for itself, don't interrupt.

Cowboying would be a lot more pleasant if Noah had taken the time to swat a couple of mosquitoes on his Ark.

Going faster when you're lost won't help a bit.

When you can't find somethin', either it's lost or you are.

You generally learn the value of money from a lack of it.

Entering the Publishers' Clearinghouse Sweepstakes every year is not considered a well-thought-out retirement plan.

Whether the glass is half empty or half full depends on whether you're drinking or pouring.

Things have a way of working out if you just keep your head and don't panic.