SECTION 3: RISK TOLERANCE PROFILE

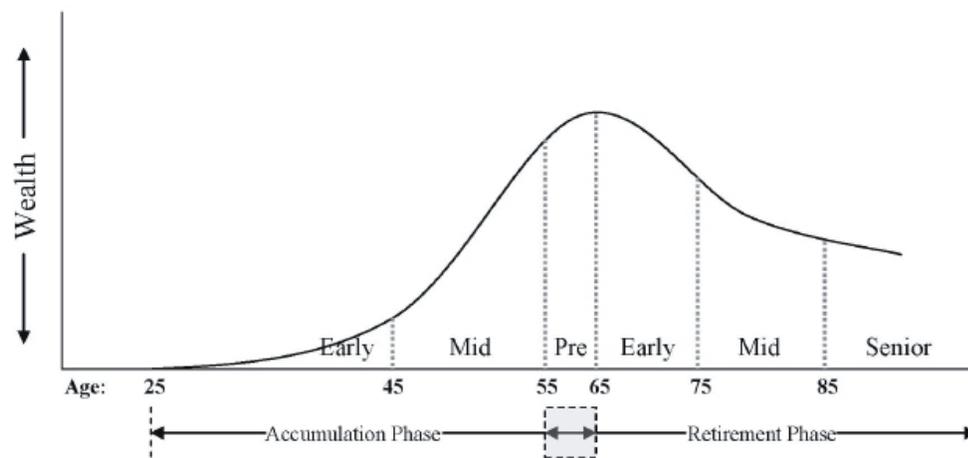

LIFE CYCLE POSITION

Through the progression of age, the average individual advances through several investment phases while working towards the financial goal of getting to and then living in retirement. The illustration below diagrams the six different phases of an investor's life cycle based on age and wealth.

In the Accumulation phase, the investor is making contributions to the portfolio in an effort to save for retirement. As time moves closer to that goal, larger relative contributions, as well as market performance and volatility have a significant effect on the portfolio's value.

In the Distribution phase, the investor is taking distributions from the portfolio to fund expenses in retirement. While market volatility is still a factor, a larger focus should be on longevity risk and maintaining a proper allocation to ensure that the investor's assets last throughout retirement.

THE INVESTOR LIFE CYCLE

1. INVESTOR LIFE CYCLE

Which phase best represents your position in the Investor Life Cycle (Refer to Life Cycle chart above):

- Early Accumulation (20-40 years before retirement)
- Mid Accumulation (10-20 years before retirement)
- Pre-Retirement (0-10 years before retirement)
- Early Retirement (0-10 years into retirement)
- Mid Retirement (10-20 years into retirement)
- Senior Retirement (20-30 years into retirement)

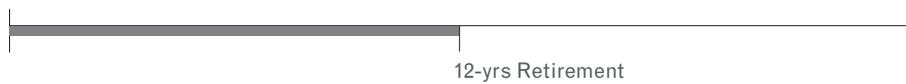

2. TIME HORIZON

An important consideration when making investment decisions is where you are in your financial life cycle and how long you have before you will need to start withdrawing the assets. Through consultation with your Financial Advisor, please indicate your portfolio's appropriate time horizon. A multi-stage time horizon would indicate that you have several goals in the future that your investment portfolio needs to address.

4. RISK FACTOR

Before you make a decision on any investment, you need to consider how you feel about the prospect of potential loss of principal. This is a basic principle of investing; the higher return you seek, the more risk you face. Based on your feelings about risk and potential returns, your goal is to:

- Potentially increase my portfolio's value as quickly as possible while accepting higher levels of risk.
