The New Year is giving scammers an easy way to forge documents, but you can protect yourself with an easy New Year’s resolution:

Stop abbreviating the year.

This year’s abbreviation is easily changeable and could be used against you. The concern is that scammers could easily manipulate a document dated "1/1/20" into "1/1/2000" or even "1/1/2021."

One example is when you agree to make payments beginning on 1/15/20. Theoretically, they could change the date to read “2019” and establish that you began owing your obligation on 1/15/2019, and try to collect additional money.

Another example that could happen in the future is post-dating. A check dated "1/1/20" could become "1/1/2021", and possibly making the uncashed check active again. Be cautious and write out the
The new Setting Every Community Up For Retirement Enhancement (SECURE) Act, just signed by President Trump, is the broadest piece of retirement legislation passed in 13 years. Ultimately, the law focuses on retirement planning in three key areas: 1) modifying required minimum distribution (RMD) rules for retirement plans; 2) expanding retirement plan access and 3) increasing lifetime income options in retirement plans.

The most immediate impact of the bill will be felt by those nearing or in retirement. If you’re a saver or investor in your 50s or 60s, there are five ways the SECURE Act may affect you:

1. Required Minimum Distribution Relief for Retirement Plans
   Before the SECURE Act, if you had money in a traditional Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or an employer-sponsored retirement plan and were retired, you were required by law to start making withdrawals at age 70 ½, but for people who haven’t hit 70 ½ by the end of 2019, the SECURE Act pushes out the RMD start date for most situations until age 72. By pushing back the RMD start date, the SECURE Act gives you additional time to allow your IRAs and 401(k)s to grow without being depleted by distributions and taxes.

2. Additional Roth IRA Planning Opportunities
   Because RMDs won’t start until age 72, the new law will give you an additional two years to do what are known as Roth IRA conversions without having to worry about the impact of required distributions. With a Roth IRA, unlike a traditional IRA, withdrawals are tax-free as long as you meet certain requirements and there are no RMDs during your lifetime. The general goal of a Roth conversion is to convert taxable money in an IRA into a Roth IRA at lower tax rates today than you expect to pay in the future.

3. Increased Savings Opportunities
   The SECURE Act also increased retirement savings opportunities in a number of ways. Before this law, you couldn’t contribute to a tax-deductible IRA after 70 ½. But with the SECURE Act, you can. So, if you plan on working into your 70s, you can still put money into a deductible IRA. Those over 70 ½ in 2019 won’t be able to save in an IRA for this year. This law change means a couple over 70 ½ may be allowed to add to an IRA $14,000 in 2020 if both spouses are contributing the maximum of $7,000 a year. This can help them receive a valuable tax deduction and save for the future.

4. A Reason to Review Beneficiary Designations
   In the past, if a traditional IRA was left to a beneficiary, that person could, in most cases, stretch out the RMDs over his or her own life expectancy, essentially “stretching” out the tax benefits of the retirement account. With the new law, most IRA beneficiaries will now have to distribute their entire inherited retirement account within 10 years of the year of death of the owner, if the death occurred on or after January 1, 2020.

   Surviving spouses, minor children and those not more than 10 years younger than the deceased, however, are generally exempt from this new SECURE Act 10-year distribution rule.

5. A Reason to Review Trusts
   In the past, many people used trusts as beneficiaries of IRAs and 401(k)s, with a “pass-through” feature that let the beneficiary stretch out the tax benefits of the inherited account. The benefit of the trust was, in part, to help manage the inherited retirement account and to provide protections from creditors. However, many of these trusts provided the beneficiary or heir with access to only the RMD due each year. However, the SECURE Act states that all money must be taken out by the end of year 10 after the year of death of the owner. Revisiting these documents again is crucial to maintaining effective estate plans.

Many of these SECURE Act rule changes require proactive planning so please contact us if you have any questions.
A letter from Richard and Heather:

Five Years & Going Strong

February 13, 2020 will mark the five year anniversary of when we took a leap of faith by leaving our prior firm and created ZK Financial Group. In some ways, it feels like it just happened yesterday. But some days, we can’t imagine our lives were ever any other way. Making this change was a natural progression in deepening our relationships with our clients and taking them to the next level. Looking back, it was absolutely the right decision!

Many of our current clients already had working relationships with us back then. Perhaps you remember the anxiety everyone felt during the transition period. Money is a very personal and private issue for most people and you recognized that the relationship is held with us, not a firm. Words cannot express the level of gratitude we feel toward the numerous families where our relationships have lasted decades and extend into the third and even fourth generations now. To us, that speaks volumes!

Our business is very unique from other types of industries. In our field, placing ads or putting up billboards doesn’t attract the type of clientele we work best with. This business is built on trust. We strive to treat our clients like family. When clients recognize the value we have brought to them over the years, they are likely to tell someone about it. Many of you often share our name with a friend, a neighbor, or a relative who is dealing with similar circumstances. You have helped us grow to where we now serve over 300 households and small businesses across the country! You have helped tell our story! And for that we are thankful. We hope you will continue to help us grow.

We are blessed to have Amanda and Chrissie on staff to help provide a high level of service. As a team, we are committed to organizing and coordinating all aspects of your wealth management plan, with pleasure.

With much gratitude,
Richard & Heather
