Your partner in independence

While we work in an evolving industry with unpredictable markets and shifting client needs, there is one constant – Raymond James’ commitment to supporting your independence and success as a financial advisor.

We believe the key to independence isn’t running your own business all on your own – but running it on your own terms. The independent approach is designed to be all about your control to build the business you’ve always wanted using as much or as little of our support as you desire.

Our business is comprised of advisors like you who care about their clients, cherish their independence, are eager to grow their businesses, and comfortably comply with the industry’s rules. Like you, these advisors are passionate about what they do – and the impact they make on their clients’ lives. I am pleased to say that since the firm started keeping track in 1990, Raymond James, on a year-to-year basis, has retained 99% of the independent advisors who demonstrate these characteristics – characteristics that are the foundation of our success.

You have our full commitment to do all we can to help you build, manage and lead a successful practice your way, with:

- Integrated technology tools to keep you organized and connected
- Access to expert product specialists and resources
- Practice management resources at your fingertips
- The support of a full-service, self-clearing New York Stock Exchange firm

If you’re ready to begin or continue a more fulfilling future as an independent business owner, I encourage you to learn more about the advantages of affiliating with Raymond James.

Best Wishes,

JODI PERRY

Your office, your way

Full support to build your own business

As one of the nation’s largest full-service wealth management and investment banking firms not headquartered in New York, Raymond James is a company that values independence – not only for the company itself but also for the firm’s some 7,700 financial advisors. And nowhere is that value of independence more evident than the firm’s approach to affiliation, known as AdvisorChoice.

With you every step of the way

After all the thought and hard work that goes into the decision to partner with a new firm, the move itself may seem daunting. At Raymond James, however, you’ll find one of the largest, most experienced transition teams in the industry providing support. Transitioning advisors are assigned two consultants to help smooth the move for both advisors and clients.

• Transition consultant – Home office liaison and point of contact for all things operational

• Transition technology consultant – Responsible for developing and implementing a customized technology plan

Along with these two consultants, the independent business consultant acts as a resource for questions, concerns and support during and after the transition. You’ll also have your own experienced marketing account manager who will serve as a convenient, single point of contact with the Raymond James Marketing department.

Through AdvisorChoice, an advisor can select from several affiliation options the one that best matches his or her professional goals and the way in which he or she serves clients. And since 69% of the firm’s revenues are derived from Private Client Group business – the opposite of most bank-owned firms in which entire brokerage divisions make up less than 10% of revenues – Raymond James is also committed to providing award-winning tools and support to help make its advisors successful.
Going the distance
The story of Raymond James profitability since 1987

Is it possible to build profitability on a historic loss of profit? In the case of Raymond James, the answer is yes. That’s because the company was able to turn what was a loss at the time to a big win in demonstrating its dedication to customer service.

When a company says it is dedicated to putting client needs first – even above those of the firm itself – you need merely look at history to prove the validity of the claim. Case in point: When the Dow plunged 508 points on October 19, 1987 – also known as Black Monday – then CEO and current Chairman Emeritus Tom James refused to close the trading desks so clients wouldn’t be stuck in their positions. As a result, Raymond James sacrificed its own profitability in order to protect clients and preserve their assets.

Since 1987, Raymond James has delivered 122 consecutive quarters of profitability. The firm credits much of this performance to its client-first perspective and adherence to founding core values of professional integrity, advisor independence, and a conservative, long-term approach to investing.

Your independence should also come with rewarding compensation

At Raymond James, our fair and stable payout is a fundamental way we demonstrate our respect and value for the independent advisor – providing you the freedom to focus on the needs of your clients first.

Here, you’ll experience competitive payouts that are transparent and recognize your productivity. At Raymond James, our graduated compensation schedule is based on each branch’s total prior months’ trailing 12 production. As an independent advisor, you’ll receive a payout from 81% to 90% (varying according to this schedule). Ticket charges are $25 for all commissionable products, and administrative and program fees range from 2 to 22 basis points based on fee-based account type.

Regarding advisor affiliation fees, Raymond James takes a simplified approach by assessing only two fixed fees. These include a technology fee ($300/month) to cover all advisor technology such as portfolio management, CRM, financial planning and advisor desktop applications, and an administrative fee ($350/month) including E&O, fidelity, bonding, OBA supervision and FINRA/SIPC assessments.

Regardless of your practice model, we’ll help you achieve new levels of success with a fair compensation package.

*Ticket charges apply on the buy side only for mutual funds.
IT fee is reduced to $250 if financial advisor declines external aggregation services. Subscriptions are also available for real-time quotes at the advisor’s discretion starting at $125 + exchange fee. A separate monthly IT fee of $75 is charged to all other branch personnel with a $50 credit for every $500,000 in branch production.

Private client banking  Quick and cost-effective access to capital

As a financial planning firm with a bank, not vice versa, Raymond James has capped revenue that can be gained by our bank – a notable difference within our industry. While you won’t find a bank driving our financial planning firm, you will find cash and lending solutions to provide to your clients, including securities-based lines of credit and mortgages that won’t disrupt your clients’ investment strategy.

Additionally, you will receive compensation on referrals for securities-based lines of credit and corporate loans, which is just one more differentiator that comes with being part of our firm.*
